Anne Geddes captures the magic of Wave® Petunias in a new baby photo series.

WEST CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, April 29, 2025 – In celebration of its 30th anniversary, Wave® Gardening is proud to unveil a one-of-a-kind collaboration with world-renowned photographer, Anne Geddes, known globally for her enchanting portraits of babies in whimsical natural settings.

Since introducing its revolutionary Wave® Purple Classic Petunia in 1995, Wave® has transformed home gardening with easy, spreading color for both beginner and seasoned gardeners. Today, the brand continues to grow its legacy with a broad range of Wave® Petunias and Wave® Pansies, offering bold color, vigorous growth and season-long performance.

As part of its milestone 30-year anniversary, Wave® joins creative forces with the iconic Geddes on an exclusive photo series, shot at Blonde Studios, NYC, featuring babies nestled among blooming Wave® Petunias. The photoshoot featured some of the brand's standout flowers, including Easy Wave® Rose, Plum Vein and Berry Velour, known for their vibrant shades that perfectly complement Geddes' signature style. The collaboration also coincides with the debut of National Wave Day, a new annual celebration launching on May 3, 2025, honoring the brand's impact on gardens and gardeners alike over the past three decades.

"This partnership with Anne Geddes is a celebration of color, creativity and joy," says Sarah Makiejus, Global Marketing Manager of PanAmerican Seed®, the breeding company behind Wave®. "Both Wave® and Anne are icons in their fields, and together we've created a collection that captures the wonder and vibrancy of life."

The Anne Geddes collection with Wave® Petunias beautifully reflects the brand's mission to make gardening feel more joyful, accessible and meaningful. The images celebrate the heartwarming connection between flourishing flowers and the wonder of new life.

"Every baby is a reminder of possibility, innocence and beauty," says Anne Geddes. "What I love about this collaboration with Wave® is how it unites the purity of childhood with the vibrance of nature. There's something magical about capturing a moment where both are in bloom."
